Industrial
Institutional
City

1* "In [the Fillmore City Wastewater System Impact Fee Analysis], reference will be made to Equivalent Residential Connections (ERCs). One ERC is defined as the amount of wastewater [that] is generated by an average residential connection. In accordance with the City's wastewater master plan, an average residential connection is expected to use 300 gallons per day for ERC. Because an ERC relates to the amount of water required for the average residential connection, use of this term allows commercial, institutional, or other water users to be equated to a residential connection. An ERC is also anticipated to have a wastewater strength equivalent to the average municipal loading waste. Users that discharge wastewater containing higher concentrations of BOD will be equated to an ERC based upon the anticipated loadings. ERCs are factored into calculations for impact fees, user rates, and other analyses as required for design purposes. The wastewater master plan analysed wastewater production per connection type. Commercial connections are assigned an ERC value of 4. Industrial connections are assigned an ERC value of 16." Fillmore City Wastewater System Impact Fee Analysis, § 6.2, Calculation of ERC, p. 8.

*Pleasant View Subdivision: Pleasant View customers shall not pay a connection fee. They shall only pay the sewer impact fee.

Aviation Fuel Prices shall be based on the current price for aviation fuel plus the following adjustments: (Res 04-13; 05/04/04; Res 05-06; 06/07/05)

Aviation fuel price per gallon + Federal Tax + inspection fee + any other related costs = total price paid per gallon

The total price paid per gallon will be up-charged by the following:

Cash price: add 55 cents to the price paid per gallon and round to the nearest cent (less the 10 cent commission paid to airport manager = a net profit of 45 cents)

Charge price: add 60 cents to the price paid per gallon and round to the nearest cent (less the 10 cent commission paid to airport manager = a net profit of 50 cents)

A commission shall be paid to the airport manager for aviation fuel at the time Fillmore City purchases fuel. The manager will be paid 10 cents per gallon on the next regular payroll period. (With the additional 10 cents per gallon added to the total price paid, the net profit for the city is 45 and 50 cents respectively for aviation fuel sold).

The formula for establishing the new cash and charge gas prices at the Fillmore Municipal Airport will be added to the current market price for fuel with City prices possibly adjusted on a monthly basis. If the above calculation shows the new pricing would be decreased below what Fillmore City paid for the fuel when last purchased, the cash and charge prices will not be changed.
